

ABSTRACT

A laser signal is monitored. The laser signal is forwarded to an etalon. Light transmitted through the etalon is detected. Light reflected from the etalon is detected. A ratio is calculated from the detected light transmitted through the etalon and the light reflected from the etalon.

5